Amiga Specialty expands UK & European Transactional Risks offering with new capacity from IGI and Lloyd's

London – Amiga Specialty has secured new capacity for its UK and European Transactional Risks team, supported by IGI and Lloyd's.

The additional capacity significantly enhances Amiga Specialty's ability to support M&A and corporate transaction activity, enabling the business to offer higher limits, broader deal profiles, and increased flexibility across a wide range of industry sectors.

The expanded facility supports a comprehensive transactional risks offering, including Warranty & Indemnity insurance, tailored for mid-market and complex transactions, and designed to meet the evolving needs of brokers, deal advisors, and their clients.

Backed by IGI and Lloyd's strong balance sheets and global underwriting expertise, the new capacity allows Amiga Specialty to continue scaling its transactional risks platform while maintaining a disciplined, underwriting-first approach.

Richard Mills, MD of Transactional Risks, Amiga Specialty, commented: "This new capacity marks an important step forward for our transactional risks platform. With the support of IGI and Lloyd's, we can offer brokers greater certainty, larger limits, and the ability to support deals across multiple sectors and jurisdictions. It positions us strongly as we continue to grow alongside our clients and their advisers."

Adam Kembroke, MD and Founder of Amiga Specialty, added: "Transactional risk remains a core strategic growth area for Amiga. Partnering with high-quality global insurers like IGI and Lloyd's enables us to expand responsibly, support more complex transactions, and continue delivering the underwriting expertise and service our broker partners expect."

Amiga Specialty's transactional risks proposition is built around experienced underwriters, strong insurer partnerships, and efficient, technology-enabled processes – ensuring clarity, speed, and confidence throughout the deal lifecycle.
